incidents are never repeated and Adivasi girls can pursue higher education and hold their heads high.

Universities like Vidyasagar are capable of playing a significant role in the regeneration of the nation. Given the fact that the number of central universities or IITs will not multiply magically in the near future, the State Universities will continue to be the key players in the decades to come. As the Vice-Chancellor of this University I promise to be proactive to compete for a prominent slot in the academic map of the country and beyond.

I would like to convey one important message to the bright young people present here today. That is to become a patriotic Indian. There was a time when most foreigners saw India as a country of conflicts, deprivation, diseases, empty vainglory, filth, illiteracy and poverty. You are graduating at a time when the world expects our country to become one of the leaders to solve global problems. Now India is allowed to sit at high table in major multilateral deliberations. What India says today is heard with attention and seriousness. Unlike me, when I was young, you have gotten this opportunity and also a responsibility to strengthen this new respectability. I would like to say quoting Swami Vivekananda: 'The infinite future is before you, and you must always remember that each word, thought, and deed, lays up a store for you and that as the bad thoughts and bad works are ready to spring upon you like tigers, so also there is the inspiring hope that the good thoughts and good deeds are ready with the power of a hundred thousand angels to defend you always and forever.' I am confident that the young people of India will build a strong and powerful nation - a nation that is politically mature and economically strong, a nation whose people enjoy high quality of life as well as justice, fundamental rights and equality. Let a new dawn emerge. It is the time to move ahead with faith in our collective future and confidence in the largest democracy in the world, where rule of law prevails, robust institutions function and the Constitution serves as the Supreme Law. Institutions of higher education, with their emphasis on sound value systems and character building can play an effective role in developing a greater sense of responsibility and a rational approach to all issues. In this context, the duty of teachers is to inculcate in their students a balance - of knowledge and skills with the moral and aesthetic values. Good teaching is very difficult to define. Bertrand Russell once said that there are terms which are intelligible without definition. Good teaching belongs to the category of such terms. Not only is the term indefinable but the manner of teaching also has considerable variations from one good teacher to another. Teaching may not also remain confined within four walls of the class room. New technologies need to be adopted which have useful applications for teaching, learning and professional development. This will bring a significant improvement in the quality of our teaching and research. Universities must promote creativity and innovation. Creation of a knowledge society requires that Universities encourage autonomous research.

Today, as you receive your qualifications, you will hold in your hands the key to the door of your future professional success. This is your achievement but you should always remember the sacrifices others have made to ensure that you stand here today. You have received a good education from your teachers. I would like to thank them who worked toward molding your young spirit while with the university. I wish you unlimited ambition and forecast great success for all of you. As you are moving from a protected environment to a challenging environment, with all its ups and downs, you have to learn and listen because the whole world is going to be learning and listening. Your success is going to be your humility. You are the ones who will not only make your own destiny but have a say in the entire country's destiny. Do everything possible to expand the name and image of your mother institute as your life and career expands. You can do it and you surely will. I wish each one of you the very best in life. I would like to remind you the famous saying by Swami Vivekananda: 'The earth is enjoyed by heroes – this is the unfailing truth. Be a hero. Always say – I have no fear'. My dear students, I look forward to your contribution – each one of you – to the building of our great nation.

Before I conclude, I extend my warm welcome to all the recipients of Degrees and distinctions at today's ceremonial function. Your University bears through you the glorious legacy of Pandit Iswar Chandra Vidyasagar who was a life-long crusader fighting for justice and equality, for modernity and humanitarianism. The University, as your alma mater, will always be by your side. All my best wishes are with you.

Once again, I convey my deepest regards and thanks to all those who have assembled here to make the Twentieth Convocation of Vidyasagar University a grand success.

Thank you all.
