SEMESTER - I

Compulsory Courses:

COURSE NO:

HIS 101: STATE FORMATION IN ANCIENT INDIA

Lectures: 60

Marks: 50

Course Outcome: The course intends to impart knowledge to students about how states are formed and how they evolve into large territorial entities like kingdoms or empires. These processes are explained in the context of the ancient period of history in India, and one of the emphases is to focus on the analysis of states in terms of their origin – i.e. whether there could be alternatives to state like lineage, and, whether states originate sui generis or whether they originate from the remnants of earlier formations.

Students are expected to have knowledge of state origins, statelessness and sovereignty.

Syllabus:

UNIT I: Introduction to political organization till the Vedic period – Kingship in the ancient period – Gopati to Bhupati – meaning of the term Rajan-Vispati as chief – post-Vedic terms for the King.

UNIT II: Local autonomy and imperial unity – janapadas and mahajanapadas – conditions for the rise of large territorial states – treasury and coercion in the state – regular collection of land-revenue – advent of taxation and emergence of the state.

UNIT III: Structure of polity in early medieval India – chieftaincies and feudatories – political and economic changes and the bases of the early medieval state system.

COURSE NO:

HIS 105A: SOCIAL HISTORY OF COLONIAL INDIA

Lectures: 60

Marks: 50

Course Outcome: This course deals with the relatively new and intellectually demanding sub-discipline of Social History. It discusses in detail certain crucial aspects of Indian society during British rule, viz., caste, tribe, labour, family, and urbanization and urbanism. A certain degree of continuity, despite changes, characterised Indian society up to the 18th century; thereafter, western colonial rule ushered in new era with revenue extraction measures, domination in trade, technological innovations, and the rule of law – all which could not but impact upon, and bring about changes in, Indian society as well. A reading of the course ought to enable students to know the basic features of Indian society, the impact of colonial rule upon them, and how it continues to impinge upon contemporary life in India.

Syllabus

UNIT I: Changing face of a discipline: What is society? – Social history to history of society – Competing Orientalist, Utilitarian, and Nationalist visions of past Indian society – brief overview of aspects of post-colonial Indian society.

UNIT II: Marginal communities: Caste: traditional features; colonial sociology and mobility movements; lower caste aspirations and national movement – Tribe: validity of the concept and traditional features; changes during colonial rule and confrontation; tribes and national movement – Labour: consciousness and the making of a working class; capital and conditions of work; organisation, protest, and national movement.

UNIT III: Family and childhood: Patriarchy and gender; social functions of the family and household roles; changes in family structure and norms during colonial rule – Childhood and children in the colonial era; modern Bengali children's literature.

UNIT IV: The city and its inhabitants: Urbanisation and urbanism in colonial India – Emergence of the metropolis of Calcutta; the mofussil centres – The 'middle class' and other classes in the new cities; their distinctive attributes and sensibilities – Aspects of elite and popular culture in the cities.

SEMESTER- II

Compulsory Course:

COURSE NO:

HIS 201: STATE AND ECONOMY IN COLONIAL INDIA

Lectures: 60

Marks: 50

Course Outcome: This course deals with the structure and policies of British colonial rule in India; it especially focuses upon colonial polity and economy which replaced traditional Indian polity and economy in a relatively short span of time. The British tended to overlook society on the subcontinent, but they certainly meant to bring about crucial changes in the political and economic spheres to extract the maximum advantage of their rule in India. A reading of the course ought to enable students to gain a comprehensive knowledge of British colonial rule and economy; this is important because post-independence, India decided to continue with the structure of polity and economy introduced by the British, though the new policies taken were divested of the harmful intent of colonialism.

Syllabus

UNIT I: The colonial state: Brief overview of British expansion in India – British Parliament and the East India Company – Structure of administration: police, judiciary, bureaucracy, army.

UNIT II: The colonial ideology: Orientalist and Utilitarian phases; paternalist attitude – White racism – Divide and rule policy – Social-cultural policies and their impact (education, tribe, caste etc.).

UNIT III: The colonial economy and its impact (1): Changing pattern of English trade – Land revenue settlements – Commercialisation of agriculture.

UNIT IV: The colonial economy and its impact (2): Decline of traditional handicrafts – Emergence of modern industries and colonial industrial policy – impact of railways.

COURSE NO:

HIS 305B: POPULAR CULTURE IN BENGAL, 19TH AND 20TH CENTURIES

Lectures: 60

Marks: 50

Course Outcome: This course deals with the intellectually stimulating concept of popular culture that pervades the syllabuses of the social sciences and the humanities nowadays. The close relation of society and culture goes without saying; however, industrialisation, urbanisation, post-World War II Americanism, mass consumerism and so on have irrevocably changed the traditional cultural landscape and ushered in a distinct ‘popular’ culture. And, while this process began first in the West, colonial rule, globalisation, and a greater impact of such forces as the market and the media have made possible the proliferation of a popular culture in India too. A reading of the course ought to enable students to identify ‘popular’ aspects contemporary Bengali culture, the situation and the forces that brought them about, and their impact upon society at large.

Syllabus

Unit I: Defining popular culture, in relation to elite, mass, and folk cultures – the making of a popular culture in Bengal in modern times; globalization, internet – religious, class, gender, and regional distinctions within this culture, if any.

Unit II: Festivities: religious festivals like baaroyaari Durga puja, Eid, Muharram, and Christmas – social festivals for the celebration of eminent personalities like Rabindranath Tagore and Subhaschandra Bose.

Unit III: Performing arts, literature, and entertainment: Jatra – theatre – films – radio and television – music, Rabindrasangit, Bangla Band – the evolution of a modern Bengali language, literature, and reading culture – news media and public opinion.

Unit IV: Culinary, sartorial, and physical culture: Bengali food, feasts and fasts, nutrition and health – the evolution of regional attire – akhras, Bratachari movement, football, cricket and so on.
